MOUNT AGUNG BALI 2017

The news of an imminent eruption of Mount Agung in Bali in 2017 quickly spread worldwide, causing fearful anticipation among those on the island. With evacuations reaching their highest level in the affected area, the immediate focus for Bali's communities turned to providing assistance to the refugees. As the mountain continued to rumble with uncertainty, the people of Bali directed their attention towards caring for the evacuees who found themselves in new shelters with rapidly depleting supplies.

Fortunately, numerous groups, communities, and volunteers rallied together to lend a helping hand. In line with this collective effort, Handara's CSR Program extended its support to several evacuation tents, including one located in Klungkung at the Swecapura Sports Centre. By joining these relief initiatives, Handara aimed to provide assistance and support to the individuals affected by the eruption, offering relief during their time of need.
